Job description

Are you passionate about Consumer affairs? The Jersey Consumer Council is expanding its membership and is looking for Islanders of all ages to join its successful, driven and friendly team, to help improve the lives of consumers in the Island. From price checking and researching products to helping consumers with everyday issues, the role is as varied as it is rewarding.

We're hoping to attract applications to join our team of volunteer Council Members from Islanders with a variety of skills, including secretarial, digital, administrative, and social media, among others.

We're especially keen to welcome applications from Islanders in their 20s and 30s, an area currently under-represented on the Council.

We're also looking to recruit a team of separate volunteers who will help, when required, with research, data gathering and special projects.
